

The most important news from Cambridge this month is that following a unanimous vote of confidence from all the local members Zoe Mortimer has agreed to continue as our RO. Zoe has already been half the dynamic RO team which has help create the busy programme we currently enjoy s so we are all looking forward to an exciting and energetic 2011.

The other half of the team, Lisa Ray is becoming more important in sorting out the UK's banking problems and feels that it is time to stand down as RO in order to concentrate on the Nations other problems. We are all immensely grateful to Lisa (often ably supported by Kevin, her "very quick" chauffeur) for all the time and energy she has expended both organising events and the patience she has needed trying the herd the cats known as the Cambridge Region

The last months have been fairly quiet though club meetings have been well attended. In October Andy Tank turned up in his newly acquired 450 SEAC. It looks great but it wouldn't be Andy if he wasn't explaining all the little details which need sorting out. He has had to cut down but still has 4 TVRs so perhaps its not too much of a sacrifice. In November it was a good crowd on a cold day with about a dozen TVRs plus a few sundry tintops.

November saw our tribute to our very own sexagenarian deity Aralditè (or should that be diety). We celebrated Steve Dunster's sixtieth birthday with a surprise Blues Brothers party. To see Steve speechless, even for just a few moments was something we will all treasure for a long time and it was even worth the contributions to the fund established to enable him to have the wooden wheels on his nearly as elderly Griff revarnished. Hopefully there will be enough in the kitty for him to get his wooden leg done at the same time.

Plans are well ahead for 2011 with quite a few events both local and further afield in the pipeline. We are also thinking about a change of venue to be more accessible in the large patch and for a change of scenery. Watch this space and the local website site for news and contact Zoe with ideas.

Happy New Year from all the TVRers in and around Cambridge.
